

25 years of translation of the Pali-Canon into Dutch foundation Friends of Buddhism

Saturday 24 September 2022 - Chinese temple Amsterdam

Professor Gombrich is known for his academic work on the Pali Canon and as a Pali teacher. He is particularly fascinated by the cultural and historical importance of the Buddhist texts to Western society, and by the need to have a broad knowledge of Indian culture and history at the time of the Buddha in order to interpret the texts. His academic standing is unparalleled, but in addition he is a gifted speaker with a fabulous knowledge and an enormous overview of the texts.

Dr. Sarah Shaw, once a pupil of Prof Gombrich, knows how to make the texts relevant to Buddhist practice by lay people in Western society through her combination of academic and meditation teacher. She is able to tell the millennia-old stories in such a captivating way that young and old will hang on her every word.

Each participant receives a copy of the anniversary edition of “Aldus sprak de Boeddha”.
